Steep cliffs, volcanic mountains, deserts – The entire metaphysics of this extraordinary island has been encapsulated by Stone Master designers in the new collection of Madagascar stone. The expressive structure of the product, full of natural rawness, brings to mind the difficult climate of dry equatorial forests and endless savannahs. The combination of dominant browns with accents of volcanic gray makes the Madagascar stone perfectly fit into a variety of interior and exterior arrangements.

The product, thanks to its suggestive line, is perfect for modernist stylizations, emphasizing all the advantages of the arrangement concept. Madagascar stone is recommended for small spaces, especially balconies and children's rooms
